Dear Sarah,

I write, at the request of the Business and Trade Committee, to ask Harrods to provide oral evidence to our Sub-Committee on Economic Security, Arms and Export Controls on a date of mutual convenience.

There is significant public interest in the cyber-attack affecting your business, and the Committee is therefore concerned that we understand the wider lessons for public policy to strengthen the resilience of the UK economy and systemically important employers to cyber threats. It is vital that Parliament is able to learn lessons from this incident, to ensure we are able to hold Government to account for supporting firms like yours.

I would be grateful for a response to this letter by Monday 19 May.

Kind regards,

Chair of the Business and Trade Committee
