Dear Minister Hardy,

Thank you for your letter of 1 September responding to our letter on indoor air quality.

We are glad that you recognise that nitrogen pollution in indoor air is a serious issue. You mentioned that you intend to work closely with stakeholders to co-design the upcoming revised Clean Air Strategy. Can you ensure that the revised Clean Air Strategy, which is due in mid-2028, will include advice and actions that homeowners can take to mitigate nitrogen air pollution indoors?

Yours sincerely,

Baroness Sheehan, Chair of the Environment and Climate Change Committee
